this is the funniest hour of my life..."

A STAND-UP SHOW IN REAL-TIME

Award-winning comedian and much-in-demand writer Paul Kerensa brings his "attitude, charm and diamond-sharp wit" (Maxim magazine) to Edinburgh in his debut stand-up show.

PAUL KERENSA'S 26 years old, yet he's achieved less than Jack Bauer seems to in one day. Paul has done some things. He won ITV1's Take The Mike. And he was finalist for the BBC New Comedy Award and Daily Telegraph Open Mic Award (all 2002).

Since then he's wowed the stand-up circuit and was awarded the coveted Titheridge prize at BBC Radio Entertainment, where he's now Comedy-Writer-in-Residence and Script Editor for a host of Radio 4 & Radio 2 shows. Credits inc. Dead Ringers, Now Show, Bearded Ladies, News Quiz, Hudson & Pepperdine, The Day That Music Died & The Lee Mack Show.

"Fing funny" – Ricky Gervais

TV appearances include Weapons of Mass Distraction with Craig Charles (ITV1) and The Weakest Link Comedians Special (BBC1). Past Edinburgh successes have included his play Twice Nightly (* - The Scotsman), which is still touring Europe six years later.

So whether you've never seen '24' but keep meaning to borrow the boxsets, or if you think terrornoia's biggest change to the world has been better TV shows, PAUL KERENSA'S 26 is a must-see show from a one-to-watch hot-young-thing.

"Hilarious" – Bruce Dessau, Evening Standard

PAUL KERENSA'S 26 is the only show to make simultaneous equations exciting...
...the only show with live split-screen updates from across the Fringe...
...the only show to relive The Da Vinci Code with a ginger Cornishman...
...the only show that's topical, irreverent, full of adventure & on at:
